GRIZZLY BASKETBALL TEAM
TABS STROEDER, ZANON
AS 1979-80 CAPTAINS

MISSOULA---

University of Montana basketball players John Stroeder and Craig Zanon have been named Grizzly team captains for the 1979-80 season, announced head coach Mike Montgomery.

Montgomery also said there would be a Grizzly scrimmage Sunday, Nov. 4, in Dahlberg Arena located in Adams Field House. The public is invited to attend at no charge.

Stroeder is a 6-10, 240-pound center, and has been an All-Big Sky Conference pick the last two seasons. He is a senior from Port Townsend, Wash., and was selected UM's Most Inspirational Player last season. Stroeder was Montana's top rebounder (7.8 per game) and second-leading scorer (13.8 points per game).

Zanon is a 6-6 junior from Kalispell. He was given the "Captain's Award" last season, which is given to the best all-around player. The award has been newly named "The Allan Nielsen Award" after former Grizzly standout Al Nielsen, who was tragically killed in a construction accident last summer. Zanon averaged 7.2 points and 2.7 rebounds per game last season.

The Grizzlies' first game is Saturday, Nov. 24, when they host Athletes In Action. Tipoff is at 8 p.m.
